

The Heritage, Mission, Vision, and Values Curriculum
Outcomes and Action Steps
Literary Traditions

TCU Graduates will demonstrate an understanding of, and sensitivity to, our shared literary heritage.

Outcome	Action Steps
Students will demonstrate an understanding of literature as it impacts and/or reflects society and the individual.	Students will read and analyze fiction, drama, poetry, etc, appropriate to course focus and then examine the role of this material in reflecting and influencing society. Students will read and analyze fiction, drama, poetry, etc., appropriate to course focus and then relate this study to the individual condition, whether of characters, or the students themselves. Students will examine the interrelationships of the individual, cultural milieu, and society by reading and analyzing fiction, drama, poetry, etc.

Students will demonstrate an understanding of how literature also constructs human cultures.

Students will examine the interrelationships of the individual, cultural milieu, and society by reading and analyzing fiction, drama, poetry, etc.

Students will apply broad contextual understanding of literary works to contemporary life and cultural situations.

Students will read and analyze fiction, drama, poetry, etc, appropriate to course focus and then explore how meaningful language might construct culture.

10/17/03