I. HISTORY OF THE FACULTY SENATE

On May 6, 1968, at 4:30 p.m., the first meeting of the TCU Faculty Senate was called to order by Dr. James Newcomer, Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. This meeting was the culmination of a long process which included the development and revision of a constitution by the faculty, approval of that constitution by mail ballot by a majority of the faculty, and approval by the Board of Trustees.

The first Senate consisted of 36 elected members and two ex-officio members. As mandated by the constitution, each school and college (except Graduate School and the Division of Evening Courses) elected representatives in proportion to the number of faculty in the school or college. Also, fourteen members at-large were elected by the general faculty. Approximately half the members of the original Faculty Senate were elected for two-year terms, the remainder for one-year terms, so that in subsequent elections approximately half the Senate members could be elected each year.

According to the original Constitution, the Faculty Senate could discuss and express its views upon any matter affecting the University. It was also able to originate nominations for honorary degrees and had to confirm any nominees by other bodies.

Some of the first issues addressed by the Senate were the development of a Faculty-Student Concerns committee to "propose policy in the general field of student concerns as related to the faculty" (minutes, Nov. 6, 1969), the discussion and subsequent approval of The Bill of Students’ Rights and Responsibilities, discussion and rejection of a pass/no credit grading system, faculty salaries, and the development of a tenure policy. The faculty and the administration did not always see eye-to-eye on all matters and some attention was focused on the decision-making process.

Created simultaneously with the Faculty Senate was the Faculty Assembly, which had its first meeting on September 14, 1968. This was the organization of the whole faculty and its major functions were to facilitate and encourage communication within the University, among the several schools, and among the faculty, students, administration, and the Board of Trustees. The Faculty Senate was, and continues to be, the representative body of the Faculty Assembly designed primarily to express the views of the teaching and research members of the faculty. According to its constitution, actions of the Faculty Senate were subject to the review by the Faculty Assembly.

The organization and operation of the Faculty has remained much as it was in 1968. Many issues of concern at its origination continue to be addressed. The Faculty Senate has grown as the university has expanded and reorganized and now represents eight schools and colleges.

II. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

This handbook serves to provide pertinent information that will enable all senators to better understand their roles and to better serve their constituents. The handbook describes the responsibilities of faculty senators, senate officers, and the senate committees with their various charges. It also provides information about important policies that govern our teaching and research roles, and our rights as faculty at Texas Christian University. It also clarifies the established channels of communication at selected levels of university administration. The handbook is a centralized source of pertinent information, it is not intended to replace the Handbook for Faculty and Staff, but it is meant to provide each senator a ready reference, especially at Faculty Senate meetings. A brief history of the contributions of the Faculty Senate is also included to help senators understand that their participation in the Faculty Senate can be instrumental in bringing about the kinds of changes that enhance our effectiveness as teachers and scholars.
III. FACULTY SENATE MISSION STATEMENT

The mission statement of the Texas Christian University Faculty Senate is found in the Constitution of the Faculty Assembly and Faculty Senate:

"The Faculty Senate is the representative body of the Faculty Assembly designed primarily to express the views of the teaching and research members of the faculty."

Views may be expressed upon any matter affecting the university, including educational policies, degree requirements, curricula, questions of academic freedom, student-faculty relations, faculty-administration relations, and practices of the University.

RELATION TO THE MISSION THEMES OF THE UNIVERSITY

A. The Core Mission: The free expression of the views of the teaching and research members of the faculty is essential to the fulfillment of the core mission of fostering learning in the liberal arts, sciences and professions. This expression serves to ensure integrity of educational programs and promotes the academic freedom necessary to fulfill the primary mission of the University.

B. The University Environment: The expression of views regarding student-faculty relations as well as administrator-faculty relations affirms the value of individuals in a University community and fosters an environment that permits and encourages pluralism, diversity, and critical inquiry. The open debate of these and other issues in the Senate provides an example to other members of the University of the values of the Faculty in these matters.

C. The University and its public: The Faculty Senate reviews policies related to research contracts, athletics, and admission policies and makes recommendations. The Faculty Senate reviews and makes nominations for Honorary Degrees, acknowledging the interrelationship of the University and the community. Issues of social importance are openly debated and recommendations forwarded. The Senate works closely with the student leaders on issues of mutual concern.

D. The Management of the University: The Faculty Senate reviews broad financial policies and makes recommendations to the appropriate body. The Senate also closely monitors resources crucial to the education endeavor such as the Library. The Faculty Senate as a body and its members individually participate in planning and self-evaluation. Each year, the Senate forwards recommendations for University Committee appointments and makes recommendations when necessary to fill vacant appointments or select committees.
